OFFICERS GET STILL AND 200 GALLONS OF MASH

State Prohibition Agents and Local Officers Capture 60 Gallon Still and 240 Gallons Mash on Thorny Creek Mountain; Operators Caught and Lodged in Jail

Sheriff Reid Moore, State Patrolman G. W. Busch, Ellis Dean and two State prohibition agents of Charleston, captured one of the largest stills ever captured in this county, last Friday afternoon on Thorny Creek Mountain.

The still was of the capacity of 60 gallons and was made of two large copper kettles, one on top of the other. The officers, when they arrived at the still, found no one near. They stationed themselves at various points around the still to await the arrival of the operators.

FEDERAL BOARD BROADCASTS WEEKLY COOPERATIVE TALKS

In order that farmers of West

Patrolman Busch, who was nearest the still, was almost run over by the two operators, Marion Galford and Renick Waugh, in their attempt to get to the still. They stopped directly behind Busch and discussed their plans and also remarked that it looked as if someone had been around; they proceeded into the vicinity of the still and immediately after the men had passed to the front of Busch, he ordered them to halt.

Waugh and Galford were immediately relieved of their weapon, which was a high powered rifle, and brought to Marlinton where they were lodged in the local jail and then taken on to Bluefield, Monday, to answer in the Federal court, which is in session there, this week.

CLEANING UP CHICAGO

Chicago's Crime Commission which has been studying the gang and racket problem for a long time, has come out with the somewhat amazing suggestion that the quickest way to break up the gang grip upon the community is for the public to boycott the business men, landlords, professional men and bankers, who are found to be paying tribute to the racketeers. The theory behind this is that it will eventually have the effect of cutting off the stream of easy money that is flowing from the legitimate business of the city into gangland. In other words, having failed by the customary methods of preserving the peace it is now proposed that an economic remedy be tried.

Such a proposal is not calculated to increase respect for authority in the land, but it probably will produce a wide variety of emotion in the minds of the tribute payers. Those who are unwilling victims will feel that they have been abandoned by the very people to whom they have turned to look out for help and as a consequence are between two fires, one ready, and those who are more sympathetic with the gangsters will be filled with dark anger. It probably is true that in Chicago the latter class is by far the numerous. It would contain all the easy proprietors, the keepers of flats and more questionable sports and their army of customers as well as those business men who live upon the patronage of the

is not much prospect, therefore, that an economic weapon will be more effective than the police has been. The latter can be expected to clean up Chicago and the unholy alliance between the

That shows that the state prohibition enforcement officials have been even more active than federal officers, which probably will surprise the average West Virginian a great deal.

Made Him Fit.

Up in the "Sinks," which lies partly in Pocahontas and partly in Pendleton counties, in the timber operations the foreign workmen bury their dead without ceremony. A dead Italian was allowed to lie a week in a shanty in which several Italians lived, but when the boss of the camp learned about the matter he made the men make a coffin and inter their companion. After it was made it was found that on account of the cot sagging in the middle the dead man was lying pretty much in shape of a hoop and could not be placed in the box. While they were considering making a larger box one ingenious Italian solved the problem by taking a double-edged axe and preparing the corpse for burial. He first broke the legs and then with a blow in the head drove the body down far enough into the box for the lid to go on.

Foster Gets Two Years.

Luther Foster, sergeant of the town of Cass, was last week sentenced to two years in the penitentiary by Judge Miller who was presiding over the Pocahontas county circuit court in the absence of Judge Dice. The case attracted more attention than any other at the term held last week. Foster had been a policeman at Cass for a number of years. Several times he has been charged with taking money from prisoners whom he had arrested in a drunken condition. In this particular case he was charged with taking $234.50 from a woodman and only returning $114.61 when he released the prisoner. He was indicted in several cases, we understand, but was only tried on the one indictment. After hearing the evidence, the jury found a verdict of guilty and he received the two year sentence. Foster claims that it is a frame-up job on him. There is a considerable division of opinion among those who are best acquainted with the ex-policeman. He will try to get a new hearing. Foster is originally from Monroe county.

Major Arbogast Dead.

Major J. C. Arbogast, twice elected sheriff of Pocahontas county, died at Greenbank last Saturday morning, of organic heart trouble. He was 76 years of age. At the outbreak of the war between the states he entered the Confederate service and was made captain of the Greenbank company, the crack company of the 31st Va. Infantry. Afterward he was promoted to the rank of major in the same regiment. He was a member of the M. E. Church South, and was considered one of the best citizens of the county. His funeral, which was conducted Sunday afternoon drew a large concourse of sorrowing friends and relatives. He is survived by two sons, Earl and Wardell. A daughter, Mrs. Wm. Sad Drowning of Young Man.

The sad new of the drowning of Charles C. Clark, of Academy, was received here Tuesday of this week. The fatality occurred at Gauley Bridge, where the young man was working, Tuesday morning. The particulars have not been fully learned.

It seems that Mr. Clark was employed at the C. & O. station at Gauley Bridge as assistant to his cousin, Forest Clark, who is agent at that point. He was employed at night and each morning after quitting work would go to the river to take a bath before retiring for the day. On the morning of the drowning he went to the river by himself after eating breakfast and as was his custom went in bathing. He was quite a piece from the shore, when being seized with a cramp, sank before help could reach him. The river was dragged for his body, which was found about twenty minutes after it had sunk beneath the waters of New river. Doctors worked over the body almost a half hour before life was pronounced extinct. The remains were prepared for burial and brought to Academy, his former home, Wednesday. That afternoon he was laid away in the presence of a large assemblage of sorrowing friends and relatives. He was a very popular young man, a son of J. H. Clark, of Academy, who with his family has the most profound sympathy of the entire community. The young man was about 20 years of age.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Carl Slaven Saturday night, a son.

O'ER THE COUNTY

Adolph Cooper, prominent local attorney, and candidate for the Republican nomination for prosecuting attorney, was a business visitor in Charleston, Wednesday and Thursday of last week.

— ALC —

E. M. Parsons, superintendent of the Parsons Handle Factory, left this city, March 24, on a business trip that took him to Richwood and on to Parkersburg. He was accompanied by Mrs. Parsons. The Parson home is in Belpre, Ohio, and on arriving at Parkersburg they were compelled to leave their car and travel a mile and a half in a boat through the streets of the city. They returned to Marlinton Friday and announced that the handle factory will be moved here from Webster Springs as soon as the roads are in condition.

We are glad to hear that our good friend Col. Forester is to be with us for some time yet. The orders moving him have been cancelled. The Colonel is to be congratulated on the way he has handled the CCC organization in this county.

Mrs. Ernest Henson, of Bluefield, state president of the W. C. T. U., Mrs. F. L. Miller, of Parkersburg, vice president at large; Mrs. B. F. Robinson, of Clarksburg, recording secretary; Mrs. Margaret Hall Myers, of New Martinsville, treasurer; Mrs. Robert Hall, of Clarksburg, secretary of the Youth's Temperance Council; Mrs. J. Walter Barnes, of Charleston, editor of the "White Ribbon," and Mrs. Ellen Cheuvront, of Clarksburg, who conducts W. C. T. U. Institutes throughout the state, were here last week to attend the State Mid-Year Executive committee meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union which was held in the Marlinton Methodist church. Each of these women spoke on the five different points of the Frances E. Willard Centenary Fund.

On Wednesday night, Mrs. F. L. Miller gave a demonstration and lecture at the church, on Alcohol Education, showing the effect it has upon the body. Thursday morning at 11 o'clock she gave it again in the Marlinton high school auditorium to the student body. Large crowds attended these public meetings and the demonstration was very interesting and helpful.

At these executive committee meetings plans were made for the state convention which will be held in Grafton in the early fall and for the national convention which will be held in Tulsa, Oklahoma, in May.

HOBGOBLIN HOUSE

On Thursday evening, April 2, at 8 o'clock, the mystery play "Hobgoblin House" by Jay Tobias, will be presented in the Marlinton high school auditorium by members of the junior class.

Miss Priscella Carter buys an old haunted house in the Ozarks for a summer home in an effort to keep her two nieces from marrying two silly young nincompoops. The house is invaded by a headless phantom, a wailing skull, a lunatic, a kidnaped heiress, and a band of Chicago gangsters. The deserted suitors come to the rescue and a struggle between sane, sensible people and a house full of supernatural beings ensues. The outcome is quite thrilling.

The cast includes: Misses Milly
Brill, Margie Alderman, Sue Hiner, Betsy Barnette, Cora Lee Harris,
and Aileen Waugh, Emory Adkison, George Adkison, Jacob Webster,
George Sharp, Bill de Kraft and Paul Eubank.

For two years a million families were kept from state government relief. Relief offered the farmer any opportunity to plan the working out of existence for himself. The amount of relief money a family was the minimum they could manage to exist on.

No one could seriously consider the continuance of a system which would force hundreds of thousands to live on a standard of living on, or below the subsistence level.

These farmers who had been dependent on emergency relief measures had been in the darkest days of their lives, and they needed and wanted a way out. They wanted to stand on their own feet.

Work to Win

The Pine Grove Work to Win Club held its regular monthly meeting at the Pine Grove school house Friday, March 13.

The meeting was called to order by the president. Several 4-H songs were sung. Our subject for this month was safety and health.

Our leader, Mr. Tracy discussed several important safety rules. The president held "open house," and let the members read and discuss some rules they had found.

A report was given by each member on food. What kind of food, and why we should eat it. The most commonly discussed was wheat, potatoes, cabbage, rice, lettuce, apples, oranges and celery.

After singing some more songs and playing a few games the meeting adjourned.

The highest CCC camp in the state of West Virginia is Camp Bowers.
Located in the hills of Randolph county, on the head waters of Mill

Kumbrabow State Forest, this camp stands at an elevation of 3580 ft.

In the heart of the best hunting

it is entirely proper that the State a game refuge in this area, and it is to that purpose, as well as the build-

It has been the policy of all camp officials to make friends locally. The technical service and the army have cooperated along this line, and the results have been very good. Dances at camp are a regular feature during seasons when the roads are open, and even during the winter weather the local people come in regularly to movies each week, in spite of the fact that the nearest town is nine miles away.

Camp Bowers is under the command of Captain Thomas M. Barton, who is now residing in Beverly, and George Harris of Beverly is in charge of the work projects.

READERS COMMENT

Valley Center, Va.,
March 23, 1936.

Clinton Journal,
Sir:

If a man made you the promises Roosevelt made the people of this town in 1932 and then broke them, what would you call him? A liar of course. What else could you term him, after all his alluring promises in 1932. It might sound rather hard on all the president this but you can't get around hard facts.

He promised to follow the platform that was elected on 100 percent and a single plank was kept except one to restore liquor to thirsty farmers. If this is 100 percent then he lied the wrong kind of arithmetic when I went to school.

His solemn word to balance the budget. His promise to maintain a stable currency at all hazards, and he was most emphatic about saving not more than 25 percent on cost of government and a hundred other empty promises never touched—except to say I don't have to speak elaborately about each of these broken promises can prove they were broken, mentioned by anyone.

I know, I know and every other clear thinking man and woman is blinded by party prejudice if the Republicans loose the election in November and F. D. and his reform wrecking, promising record is approved, it is good for the constitution, farewell to the ad speech, state rights and government, dictatorship will lead of righteous rule and it will be a poping throughout the United States.

Respectfully,

N. H. REXRODE,

Government by Law— or by Edict?

By RAYMOND PITCAIRN

National Chairman
Seniors of the Republic

Dominant among the demands of men who fought the Revolution was right to a voice in the making of a government under which they were governed. Their victory our fathers won that right. Jealousy they guarded it—in Federal and State constitutions the system thus established, the right of law was reserved to men by the people and responsive to their will. It is the traditional American.

There is another type of legislation known as Administrative Law, a system of edicts and decrees, decreed by rulers to subject people. In its enactment the people have no voice.

One reason why so many useful citizens are protesting the flood of edicts pouring out of offices of various boards and commissions today, is that they realize that a whole new body of Administrative Law is being forced upon people, not by their elected representatives, but by appointed chiefs of bureaus and commissions, in whose making the voters had no choice and over whose actions they exercise no control.

In recent years those citizens have been a constantly increasing number of interference with individual freedom by the part of Bureaucrats who are to whom Congress delegates power vested only in the people's elected representatives.

They see the growing threat of Administrative Law supplanting, unless our entire American system of government is changed, and with it our constitution of government.

Liberty and democracy cannot exist side by side. One or the other must yield. Whether or not we surrender government by the people to be determined by Bureaucrats.

Of the patriots who waged a bitter war for the right to our own laws, our decision is a difficult one.

PASTURE IMPROVED BY SUPERPHOSPHATE AND LIME, ALL SOIL

Practically all soils in West Virginia respond favorably to lime and superphosphate when applied to pastures. C. P. Dorsey, county agent points out in a letter mailed to farmers in this county this week. Although dated on April 1, Mr. Dorsey says there's no feeling about the need for pasture improvement in this county nor about what the application of lime and superphosphate when applied at the same time will do for run-down pastures.

In his previous letters on the need for pasture improvement the county agent has cited a lot of evidence to back up his claims and in the letter mailed this week reports more results of experiments conducted by the W. Va. Agricultural Experiment Station. This time he tells about two experiments being conducted in cooperation with the United States Department of Agriculture on different types of soil. One located near Moorefield in Hardy county and the other near Morgantown in Monongalia county.

The experiments in question began in 1930 and results in terms of the average number of pounds of dry matter produced per acre on a yearly basis for the six-year period including 1935 have been reported by Dr. W. H. Pierre, agronomist, in charge of the work. Yields were larger at Moorefield on Huntington silt loam soil than at Morgantown on DeKalb soil but the increases in yield due to treatment were greater on the DeKalb soil. In fact, the application of potash and nitrogen gave practically no returns on the Huntington silt loam but did result in appreciable increases on the DeKalb soil.

As was the case in other experiments previously reported the application of either lime or superphosphate alone gave relatively small increases in yield in comparison to the increases resulting from the application of both together. This was true on both types of soil.

With no treatment the yield of dry matter per acre on the DeKalb soil was 708 pounds and 1290 pounds on the Huntington silt loam. When lime alone was applied there was an increase of 152 pounds or 21 percent the former and 83 pounds or only 6 percent on the latter. Likewise application of superphosphate resulted in increases of 265 pounds or 37 percent and 240 pounds or 18 percent on the latter.

THE DOG POISONER

I wonder if the person or persons who placed the poison over the streets of Marlinton last week end really knew the crime they were committing? It was not merely the placing of poisoned weinies out to kill some poor dumb brute, but it might have had a serious ending.

Aside from the fact that we are of the opinion that a person who would do such a thing is too little for words to describe, there comes the thought: Suppose so youngster would have found these weinies and ate them? Surely the person never gave this a thought.

Please, for your children's sake think twice before you again stoop to such a low trick.

THE WPA SCANDAL

There can be but one conclusion, and that is that the WPA is the rottenest political organization that has ever been formed in West Virginia. It already smells to the high heavens and the end is yet in sight.

While the investigations are now centered in West Virginia, there are plenty of signs to indicate that WPA scandals exist in other states. For instance, Governor Landon of Kansas called upon Republicans to purge federal relief of partisanship, of waste and incompetence. He then declared:

"When a national administration takes millions and millions paid in taxes by the American people to build up a partisan political machine out of want and misery, that administration does an indefensible thing."

Surely the situation in West Virginia as already uncovered in the WPA proves his statements are correct.—The Clarksburg Telegram.

THE YOUNG REPUBLICAN CLUB

The Pocahontas Young Republican Club under the present officers is developing into the most active club in the state of West Virginia.

President McNeil, of the county club plans to hold a meeting every week from now until the general election in November. The club already has held two meetings, one at the courthouse here in Marlinton, and at Hillsboro high school last Friday night.

Good crowds are attending these meetings and much interest is being shown in the coming campaign. This spirit shows that the majority of the voters of the county are ready to wash their hands of the few political overlords who have been running the affairs of the county for those few loyal henchmen who are their aids. I wonder what some of the hangers-on will do after the November

"Is that what you'd do, Court?" she asked the lazy huddle that was Courtney Frazer, back in a corner of the country club porch.

"Not at all," his good natured voice was careless. "I should be galle on this bandit. That's my middle name—Gulle. Courtney G. Frazier Gulle, Inc. I should outsmart Mr. Gulle, Inc. short of physical prowess and—"

Presently Virginia was the wheel of a powerful red motor spinning up the long hard stretch and with all of the motor's strength under her fingers. When it slowed down to turn into the main road she stiffened and the car halted. A voice came from the rumble seat.

"And don't jerk the car around that way," it said. "It spoils my composure, among other important details. Oh, did I frighten you, Jan? Didn't you know I was back here disguised as a suitcase?"

"The disguise was impenetrable," she told him between clenched white teeth. "Just something that has to be carried. Full of emphasis—"

He had climbed over the seat beside her and he bent a physical remonstrance upon her.

JUDGE SHARP—THE CALL IS CLEAR FOR HIM

(From the West Virginia News Feb. 20)

Judge Summers H. Sharp has not yet decided to become a candidate for governor in response to a loud, clear call which has quickly become state-wide. The News can get no word that he will—only that he is considering it with a deep appreciation of the interest friends and even strangers to him personally are showing, and will make up his mind soon.

In the meantime, Sam T. Mallison, Wheeling Intelligencer staff writer and political observer, has sensed somewhat the strength and fitness of this able jurist. Mr. Mallison writes to his papers:

ENTERTAINED AID

Mrs. Julian Moore entertained the Campbelltown Ladies' Aid society, Wednesday afternoon, April 1, at her home in Campbelltown.

Scripture was read by the president, Mrs. O. F. White, and the Lord's Prayer was repeated in unison. The roll call, minutes for the March meeting and financial report were read by the secretary, Miss Mabel White.

At the close of the business session the guests were entertained with an old fashioned "Sugar Stir" which they very much enjoyed.

Those present were Mesdames O. F. White, W. H. Van Reenen. Stanley Curry, J. J. McNellan, Roy Boggs; Misses Sylvia May, Mabel White; Gene Curry and the hostess, Mrs. Moore.

Marlinton, after the game they started for their home, endeavoring to return before nightfall, as the lights on the car, which was owned by Beard, were broken. As they neared Marvin's Chapel, they met a truck and, it is said, they sideswiped it, causing them to lose control of the car and ascending a bank on the right side of the road. After running quite a distance against the bank, the car overturned, throwing both men onto the highway, fracturing the skull of both men.

They were rushed to the Pocahontas Memorial hospital where every possible means were employed to save their lives, but with no avail.

Funeral services for Loudermilk were held on Sunday afternoon from the M. E. Church at Hillsboro, the Rev. W. M. Reynolds in charge, with interment in the McNeel cemetery at Buckeye.

Services for Beard were conducted on Monday afternoon at 1:30 from the home of his parents, the services being in charge of the Rev. Curry, with interment in the Oak Grove cemetery at Hillsboro. He is did she get hot water for her bath?"

When daylight had come and other men began to walk about the streets, I returned up town. The dogs had disappeared.

Editor Cottle of the Morgantown Post is undecided whether Governor Rolph of California acted wisely when he directed that a man about to hang should be given a supply of good liquor to cheer him through the last hours on earth. He seems to labor under the impression that men the hanged as a punishment and that supplying the victim with liquor smacks of making a holiday of it. The state does not hang or electrocute men to punish them but to put them out of the way so they can do society no further harm. If punishment were the aim, it were well to hark back to some of the torments invoked by the Inquisition, such as burning alive, boiling in oil, flaying or any one of a hundred other cleverly devised means of insuring that the victim was tortured beyond further endurance. I have always suspected that a slow fire was the surest means of exacting the greatest pain the human body could endure; but, having made no experiments along this line, I am quite apt to be mistaken.

A LIBERTY TO BE PRESERVED
O

Two hundred years ago Peter Zenger, publisher of the New York Gazette, was imprisoned by the Royal Governor of the Colony of New York because he dared to criticize the Governor's actions in his newspaper.

A jury set Zenger free after he had lain in jail for several days, and declared it to be right of every free man to speak and write his opinions freely on any subject, even the Royal Governor.

From that day on the freedom of the press has been one of American's most cherished traditions. Numerous attempts have been made to place the newspapers of the nation under Governmental control. Under the infamous Alien and Sedition Act, at the beginning of the last century, many editors were imprisoned for saying what they thought of those in authority and their actions. But so greatly was public opinion aroused by these high-handed proceedings, that the very first amendment to the Constitution of the United States was the one guaranteeing the right for free speech and a free press.

Lately there have been renewed efforts in many quarters to control the Press of America. Not only local and state authorities have tried to dictate what shall and shall not be printed, but there have been hints and threats from those high in the Federal Government itself. Not long ago an agent of the Department of Labor threatened to prosecute for treason a newspaper which printed a criticism of the effort to unionize certain industries. His threats was promptly disavowed by his superiors, but since then similar threats to "climp down" on newspapers and reporters which dare to criticise the NRA have been voiced by General Johnson himself.

The United States has not yet become a despotism. We are not ruled by a Dictator. The first act of those who usurp power is always to try to control the Press. It is time now, when the trial of Peter Zenger is being celebrated as a great historical event, to declare once more that neither this newspaper nor any other newspaper in America will tolerate any effort by Authority to say what it may or may not print.
